California's Funniest Female

The incredibly witty Rebecca Arthur

The California's Funniest Female competition at Martini Blues in Huntington Beach, CA. is the largest all-female comedy contest in the World. Over 100 of the top female comedians on the planet descend to the popular stage every summer to see who the best female comedian in the Golden State is. This year, Rebecca Arthur beat all competitors to win the crown. "I am just so happy I was able to make it to the finals, but to actually win over some of these very funny ladies is something beyond my wildest dreams," said the exhilarated Arthur after her win. In the finals, the Texas Christian University Grad took the stage and just stared at the sold out crowd. "She went up there, said nothing, and the crowd went crazy," explained the shows producer Bill Word. After that, it was all fire, as Rebecca ignited the audience, using her dead pan delivery to explain internet dating, being 6'4" tall yet attracting shorter men, and doing lap dances. "Her style on stage will make her a star," said Reve Entertainment Manager

Louis Moro, who caught the show. Moro, who was there with other talent scouts added, "That lady is the brightest and most unique female comic I've seen in years." Don Allen of Conquest Entertainment Management agrees. "She is going to be big period," exclaimed Allen.

This middle aged lady from Texas made a gigantic impact on standup comedy withstanding the fact that she has only been doing comedy for two years. In that short time, Rebecca has put together quite an impressive resume, performing at clubs like the world famous Improv in Hollywood, Ontario, and Irvine, as well as the Comedy Store, the Ice House, the Comedy Union, and the much fabled 202 Club in Anaheim, which the Hollywood Reporter hailed as the top show in Southern California. "Rebecca Arthur has an unbelievable God given ability and it's just a matter of time before she is making a mid six figure income," said Ontario Improv Booker Johnny Dam.

So what is next for this lady who has already taken off like a rocket ship? "I have two or three managers that want to sign me and I will probably sign with one of them soon," said Arthur. Rebecca would also love to be in television commercials and sitcoms. "I am looking for a commercial agent so I can start auditioning for television spots, comedy shows, and movies," explains the funny gal. If things continue to move as fast as they've been moving, Rebecca may not have a long wait. After all, we are talking about the "Funniest Female in California"!

Fullerton, CA 92831

Dear Rebecca:

Thank you so much for head lining at my showcase at the Hollywood Improv. You are a comedy genius. You had a tough spot -- a tired, jaded crowd -- and you killed. People were laughing so hard that they were crying. I even think I saw some pee on the floor.

You're a great opener, a great closer and just great. If you ever need a recommendation, please ask any club owner to call me. You are a large woman, with even larger laughs.

My Best,

Judy Carter
